| 1. You consolidate subscription/redemption intentions easily and in real time | | | | |
| 2. There is a short delay between the integration of subscription intentions and the placing of orders | | | | |
| 3. The published Net Asset Value is always in line with the actual situation, so you never pay a penalty | | | | |
| 4. You manage block orders to reduce your transaction costs | | | | |
| 5. The asset mix of your Linked Unit is always in line with its objective | | | | |
| 6. Your Unit Linked management process is automated enough to be able to cope with increasing activity or shrinking teams | | | | |
| 7. You publish the Net Asset Value per Share at the frequency desired by the market | | | | |
| 8. You publish a factsheet according to market expectations (digital, interactive, etc.) | | | | |
